MAYSVILLE, KENTUCKY, MONDAY, JUNE 3, 1918.

ONE COPY—ONE CENT.

THE MAGIC EYE

Featuring the wonderful Juvenile star Zoe Rae is the feature extraordinary at the Pastime today, June 3. A thrilling drama in five acts. All star cast.

Miss Virginia Slade of Transylvania University, Lexington, is the guest of Miss Frances Dixon Ball, this week.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. William Kirwin yesterday afternoon, a fine eight-pound baby boy.

WHY?

Out of seventy red tags that have been tied on automobiles in this city under the new traffic ordinance for violations only 17 of them were from the county, the others being machines owned by Maysville people, and out of the numerous calls at the Police Department for copies of the ordinance all have been from the residents outside of the city, each person calling saying they desired to obey the law as near as possible.

REGISTRATION NOTICE

All male persons residing in the county of Mason, who have, since the fifth day of June, 1917, attained the age of twenty-one years, shall be subject to registration in accordance with regulations prescribed by the president.

Each person will present himself to the Local Board for Mason County at Postoffice Building between 7 a. m. and 9 a. m. on June 5, 1918.

Mason County Local Board.
SHERMAN ARN, Chairman.

OUR WEED CROP

The weed crop in several vacant lots that border the principal thoroughfares seems to outstrip the war garden crops by long odds. Why should the city spend a goodly sum of money in cleaning up the good old town and trying to make it sanitary when these weeds are permitted to take on such luxuriant growth? Aren't they as much a menace as most of the trash that was cleaned out and thrown over the dump?

MEMORIAL SERVICES

Germantown Lodge I. O. O. F. No. 409 extends a cordial invitation to all Oddfellows and the public in general to attend their memorial services to be held at the Christian Church at Germantown Sunday, June 16, at 2 p. m. Flowers will be appreciated.

Mr. James Ross, after attending Centre College at Danville, Ky., has returned home to spend the summer vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ross, of West Third street.

SUN BROS. SHOW HERE TOMORROW

The big show is coming—yep, Sun Bros. and tomorrow is the big day. The special train will arrive about day light and the tents will be erected near the ball park. There will be free attractions out in the open air and patriotic music galore.

As the railroads can move only one show in this section this year, this is probably the only chance to see a big standard attraction under canvas this year.

Big shows are scarce, so while you can see Sun Bros. show tomorrow only, afternoon and night.

Mrs. Levi Colburn was notified Saturday through her attorney, Major John Walsh, that she had been allowed a pension of $25 per month, with arrears.

WHEAT FIELD DAMAGED

Jake Rubenacker has a field of wheat on his place just below this city that has become mixed with wild onions, and he says as it is impossible to get these out, and as they damage it, he has made application to the County Food Administrator to allow him to turn about 100 hogs into it, claiming the benefit derived by the hogs would be far more to win-the-war campaign than to put this wild onion wheat on the market at a big reduction.

The Missionary Society of the Christian Church will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock with Mrs. Charles Bolling of Forest avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert N. Huff of Huntington, W. Va., are visiting relatives in this city.

FRENCH RETAKE TOWNS

Who Deliver Smashing Blows to the Horde of Huns Now Trying to Gain Paris and the Channel.

London, June 2.—"North of the Marne Chateau Thierry has been cleared of the enemy," says today's German War Office announcement.

A Franco-American depot at Ferre en Tardenois has been captured, adds the statement.

On the Ourcq, the German statement also says, the French were thrown back, the Germans capturing the heights of Passey and Courchamps.

A hot battle was raging across the Marne late today between the French, who, reports from Paris said, firmly are entrenched in the western suburbs of Chateau Thierry, and the Germans who have taken a foothold in the northeastern suburbs.

French troops last night smashed repeated German attacks of the greatest violence in the sector north of the River Aisne, between the Oise River and Soissons, the French War Office announced today.

Mont De Choisy, after being attacked four times by forces of the German Crown Prince, finally was stormed, only to be lost again to the invaders at the point of the bayonet.

On the front between Soissons and Chateau-Thierry the Germans occupied Longpont, Corcy, Faverolles and Longpont, Corcy, Faverolles and Troenes but later were driven out by French counter-attacks.

On the Rheims-Dormans front bitter fighting is taking place and the Germans have crossed the high road east of Ville-en-Tardenois.

The mass of German reserves is believed to be between the Marne and Ourcq Rivers, where the fighting today was more desperate than probably any combat in this war.

Having established themselves on a line from near La Ferte-Milon to Prieux-Monthiers-Etripilly-Chateau-Thierry, the Germans evidently are trying for a massed thrust against the important rail center of Meaux (on the Marne, 27 miles east-northeast of Paris.)

The Germans are following the tactics of evading those points where they must meet stout resistance. Finding such opposition, they immediately throw their masses elsewhere. They refuse to fight for positions where the defense is strong.

This line of procedure markedly is in contrast with their tactics at Verdun two years ago, where for six months "they bullied their heads" against the two-mile sector from Douaumont to Ft. Vaux.

The German encircling attempt against Rheims is being maintained fiercely. Hot fighting rages for Ft. De Pompelle, on the Vesle.

Henry Bidon, noted French military critic, says today: "A complete stabilization has not been brought about, but there is a marked halt in the German push. If we compare the present drive with the March offensive we should still give Foch until Monday about midnight to obtain a decisive result."

With the best troops at their command the German commanders are employing every strategy and the battle on the left wing is being contested with a bitterness hitherto unknown.

On the wing between Rheims and Chateau-Thierry the enemy is held, say Paris advices, while between Soissons and the Marne the French resistance is becoming victorious.

The Germans continue to pour new divisions into the battle. No doubt now remains that they intended to make their supreme effort on the Marne, rather than in the offensive toward Amiens, which was started in March.

There are 45 divisions on the Soissons-Rheims battle area, among them are the best trained troops in the German army, attired in special uniforms and following new offensive methods. Fifteen of these divisions were among General von Hutier's 23 divisions in the March drive toward Amiens.

The Germans made a desperate effort to capture Rheims by an encircling movement. They temporarily occupied Ft. La Pompelle, but were immediately dislodged.

UNABLE TO GET HELP

Mason County Farmer Makes a Bid For Labor That Is Bitten Only By the War Prices.

Yesterday Mr. Jake Rubenacker, one of this county's most prosperous and successful farmers, came to this city to secure some help for his farm, as he is short of labor and has no immediate promise of getting any, as the toll of the draft has left this class of business in very uncomfortable straits.

Mr. Rubenacker saw his man, made his offer and was turned down, and here's what he offered:

House rent free.
Team and wagon to do his hauling free.

Three meals per day free.
All the milk he could drink free.
And $35 per month.

This seems to us to be dangerously near the place where everything would be going out and hardly anything coming in, and to have such a flattering proposition turned down seems incredible, but it was, the man saying that he could get more money than all this by working at the dam only eight hours per day.

But Mr. Rubenacker can cheer up. If he can only hold out until the 15th of this month we think Chief Ort will be able to give him a bountiful supply of labor and at a far less expense than he has offered at present, as at that time the order "work or fight" will be in effect and those who are now walking the street of this city with their idle hands in their pockets will either take to the woods and get busy and keep busy or be taken to the trenches, where we know they will be kept busy. As the Chief says there will not be an idle man in Maysville after the bell taps.

Go to it, chief; we're for you.

MRS. SANFORD M. ROFF

Mrs. Maria Warder Roff, aged 50 years, died Saturday evening at 10 p. m., at her late home in Mayslick, after a short illness of a few weeks.

Mrs. Roff was a well known and beloved Christian woman in this community and was a leader in Red Cross work and an active member of the Christian Church.

The deceased is survived by three children, Elizabeth, Mary and James, her husband, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Warder and one sister, Mrs. Frank Eagen of Rochester, N. Y. The son, James C., is now in training at a military camp at Wilmington, Delaware, and due to a quarantine will not be able to attend the funeral services of his mother, which will be held Tuesday at 10 a. m. at the Mayslick Christian Church.

Miss Ruth Thomas of the Lexington Herald, spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Mary Thomas, of Bridge street.

MUNICIPAL PIGGERY

It Is Now Thought This City Will Get One to Dispose of the Garbage Accumulation.

For some time the City Paps have been worried and are now wrestling with the getting rid of the garbage that is bound to accumulate throughout the city. Numerous ideas and suggestions have been offered, but none seemed to be just the one needed to fill the bill, and as the garbage disposal is a question that will be with us as long as people eat, the matter of taking care of it will positively have to be met in some way other than the one we now have.

The one that has caught the attention of several of the officials is the municipal piggery, and the idea is not a new one, because of the fact that if there is any one thing on earth that can dispose of garbage it is the hog.

The plan to be considered now is, that the city purchase a number of hogs and fence off a lot near the creek on the City Almshouse property, where these city swine can be placed, and then have an attendant whose duty it shall be to procure the garbage from this city, he taking it up every day from different sections and hauling it out and feed it to the hogs.

This does not seem to be the worst idea advanced by any means and would be a big help toward getting rid of what is now a very serious problem, as the law now forbids any one throwing their refuse over the city dump.

One thing certain you can find a ready market for hogs at any time and at good prices, especially at this time, and it won't be a bad plan to try out.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Mrs. Simon Nelson met with a painful accident Saturday night at Second and Market streets. She was in the act of crossing Market street from the Farmers & Traders Bank corner to the opposite side, was absolutely within her rights as a pedestrian, when an automobile whizzed down Market street without any warning signal, struck Mrs. Nelson, throwing her to the curbing, and without stopping the machine went on. Mrs. Nelson was picked up, but was fortunately not seriously injured. Who the reckless driver was no one seemed to know, nor did anyone get the number of the machine. Just at the time the police were at supper, and it wouldn't be a bad idea to have one there during the evening, allowing him to be relieved for his supper. It's a cinch Chief Ort will get this fellow.

OU FINANCIAL DICTATORS

The appointees to the War Finance Corporation and the Capital Issues Committee are attacked, quite naturally, as of inadequate qualification, in certain cases, for their posts. So great is the power vested in these two bodies that men obviously qualified for places on them are scarce. A mong the insurmountable obstacles to indefinitely extending the kind of government where personal power predominates we must reckon the difficulties of getting men suitable for the increased trust that has to be reposed in them.

In the present cases it may seem that the Administration has passed over several ranks of men none too available, in order to go farther into mediocrity and perhaps to fare worse. This view fails, however, to take into account the fact that a thorough experience in the rudiments of banking or law gained in a small community, may outweigh the highly specialized learning of a leading banker of corporation chief, when it comes to handling the general question of capital expenditure the country over. It may be better to hark back to the parent type from which the big bankers or their grandfathers sprung than to risk any such mishap of topheavy specialization as marked the financial tragedies of the seven years preceding the war.

The Administration had thus to avoid putting in financiers of the leading national rank, men known to the whole country and identified with New York. It found few available in the lists of its own servants; the Treasury supplied few, the Interstate Commerce Commission none. Politicians had to be shunned. Therefore, for fully half the needed personnel the appointing powers went outside of the usual appointive field.

Whether its bold experiment in transplanting small bankers and business men from Lumberton, N. C., Louisville, Kansas City and other places will succeed we do not know. We are willing to be convinced, and wish the new bodies all the wisdom for which their abnormal powers call. The absence of New York men from the Capital Issues Committee and the excess of appointees from the Southern and adjoining States are peculiarities in the list of appointments which may be overlooked if the men chosen do their difficult work well.

Incidentally, we cannot help recalling the experience by the Government in a kindred sphere. After a year of sad experimentation with "new men," the well-known and well-tried leaders had to be called in to save the country.—N. Y. Evening Sun.

SOLDIER'S WIFE KEPT HOME

(Lloyd's News, London)
William Freeman, of Kennington Road, applied at Lambeth County Court for possession of a house occupied by John Barnard O'Reilly and his wife. He stated that rent amounting to $64 was owing.

Judge Hodges (to Mrs. O'Reilly): "Where is your husband?"

Mrs. O'Reilly: "In the trenches." She added that her income was half what it was before the war, and that she had lived in the house with her mother thirty years, and since she was married, fourteen years ago.

The Judge (to Freeman): "And now you are wanting to turn these people out after all these years, while the husband is fighting for you?"

Freeman: "There is a large amount of rent owing, and I want possession of the house."

The Judge: "If it had not been for this man and the likes of him you would not have any house at all. I will not make an order for the possession of any house against a man fighting for his country."

That's because Vinol is a constitutional cod liver and iron remedy which aids digestion, enriches the blood and creates strength. Then chronic coughs and colds naturally disappear. Your money will be returned if it does not help you.

WHAT THE DEPARTMENT AGRICULTURE IS DOING

To Protect Army Stores From Insects

Millions of dollars worth of food and clothing intended for use overseas and stored in the Government warehouse at the Bush Terminals, New York, will be protected from damage by insects through arrangements whereby the War Department will use the knowledge on stored-product insects in the possession of the Department of Agriculture. The stored supplies originated in all parts of the world and are likely to contain insects that will multiply and cause great damage in storage, particularly during the summer. To search out and treat infestations in the early stages may save millions of dollars. Dr. E. A. Back of the Bureau of Entomology has been placed in charge of the work, in cooperation with the War Department.

Develops a Superior Asparagus
A new strain of asparagus that is larger, more uniform and more productive than the old varieties and in addition is highly disease resistant has been developed through ten years of work by J. B. Norton, a plant breeder in the Bureau of Plant Industry, who introduced, tested and hybridized asparagus from all parts of the world. Introduction of the new strain is expected eventually to stamp out the "rust," a destructive disease that swept over the country a few years ago. Commercial quantities of the new type recently sold in Washington, D. C., for more than double the price of asparagus.

Moving Army to Laborers to Harvest Wheat
Additional help to harvest the wheat in the central western States will be supplied by an army of workmen moving from Texas to North Dakota with the season of harvest. Definite plans for distribution of this labor have been made by the Department of Agriculture's farm help specialists cooperating with the Department of Labor and with county agents in these wheat-producing States. It is estimated that 80,000 men will be needed to harvest the wheat crop in Kansas, and that about 50,000 of this number will be furnished by the towns and cities of that State while the remainder will go into Kansas from Oklahoma and Texas when the wheat harvest is finished in these States.

Many Food-Destroying Animals Killed

Sale of the skins of stock-destroying and other animals killed by nearly 200 animal hunters of the Bureau of Biological Survey of the Department has netted during the current fiscal year up to May 20, $79,780.77, according to records of the bureau. This compares with a total of $34,751.10 for the fiscal year 1917, and $8,614.08 for the fiscal year 1916. The increase is due to better organization of the work and to the increased values of furs. The work of the animal hunters is directed primarily against the coyote, bobcat, lobo or timber wolf, mountain lion (lynx) and stock-killing bear, but the trapping operations also resulted in the capture of a large number of badgers, elvet cats, foxes, martens, opossums, raccoons, skunks, and weasels. From the beginning of this work in the fall of 1915, when it was started on a small scale, up to January 1, 1918, more than 1,201 wolves, 51,230 coyotes, 144 mountain lions and 6,521 bobcats had been killed by trapping and shooting besides great numbers destroyed by carefully conducted poisoning campaigns.

Protecting Army Remounts From Disease

Forty-seven additional veterinarians, making a total of seventy, have recently been detailed by the Bureau of Animal Industry to protect horses, which are being transported for war purposes, from influenza, distemper or shipping fever, diseases which have caused enormous losses.

Weather Bureau Aids Aviation and Artillery Service

In cooperation with the Signal Corps, United States Army, the Weather Bureau is providing for and maintaining for the duration of the war aerological and meteorological observations at a number of aviation and artillery fields. For use at these fields tables of mean values of atmospheric pressure, temperature and density and a paper on "Meteorology and Aerodynamics" have been published.

In connection with searchlight tests conducted in February and March at Washington by the Engineer Corps of the Army, the Weather Bureau made some kite flights at night. Other flights were made in daylight in connection with studies of atmospheric electricity conducted by the Bureau of Standards.

Food Leaflets in Foreign Languages

The United States Food Leaflets recently published by the Department of Agriculture and the Food Administration have been translated in some States by local representatives into eleven foreign languages and are now being distributed among foreigners in the United States. Twenty leaflets, each carrying its message of food sense and food economy in four pages, make up the series. Besides the English version they have been published in Yiddish, Armenian, Syrian, Italian, Polish, Portuguese, French, Greek, Swedish and Lithuanian.

State Legalizes Municipal Fuel Yards

Mississippi has enacted a law authorizing the establishment and maintenance of municipal wood and coal yards during the period of the present war and for one year thereafter, as a means of meeting the fuel shortage. This is said to be the first legislation of the kind by any State. Municipalities taking advantage of this law may provide the necessary machinery, transport, sell and deliver fuel, and are authorized to use for this purpose general municipal funds, and also with certain restrictions, to borrow money if necessary.

More aPoultry and Eggs on the Way

Four district men and thirty-six State leaders, all trained poultry specialists, are carrying out the Department of Agriculture's program to secure large increases in poultry and egg production this year. In addition to these workers there are eleven extension poultry club men who are encouraging more efficient poultry production among the boys and girls in their various States. Recent reports from these poultry extension specialists indicate that normal production will be maintained in practically every section of the country this year, in which they are working, and in many localities an increase over previous years is expected. The appeal made by department specialists to city people to increase food production by utilizing their table scraps in feeding small back-yard flocks of hens is meeting with marked success.

The Department's Service Flag

In front of the main building of the Department of Agriculture hangs a big service flag with the numerals "1,196". Since the flag was made the number of former regular members of the department now in the Army or the Navy has risen to 1,537. In addition, 4,511 employees, including 358 women, have been lost to the department in other ways since the declaration of a state of war with Germany. Most of the 6,048 who have left the department's service are experts in their fields and were performing important duties in the department which required long training and peculiar qualifications—some of them special technical qualifications. The department has been in the position of having to increase its forces greatly to perform its old duties and meet the war-time demands for extended operations while at the same time it has been losing large numbers of its most effective and trained employees. The difficulties in securing men of the requisite training and of retaining those already in the service have been very great.

Reduction in Hog Cholera Losses

One hundred and sixty trained veterinarians of the Department of Agriculture are working in 33 States in

"Keep a smile on your face till 10 o'clock and it will stay there all day"

—Says Douglas Fairbanks.

If there is anything that will put a "smile" on, outside of favorable—and more favorable—news from "over there" then it's an hour sitting at your Pianista—with the wonderful Ukulele attachment of an evening after a hard, strenuous, weary day of labor, of any kind.

To the manager, machinists, salesman, the iron worker, the farmer, the mother or wife, tired, nerve-racked every day workers of every kind, music gives rest, peace, happiness—all that is good and helpful and this is needed now, more than ever before.

Many a man and woman today can look back through the flight of time—20, 30, or 50 years—and see themselves as little "tots" standing by mother's side while she plays or sings "Sweet Hour of Prayer" or the "Last Rose of Summer," and that memory is the most dear to us and we would give all we possess to live over those evenings with mother.

By playing mother's dear old favorite songs and tunes you can—in the spirit of recollection—live over again the revered "long ago music" dearer to you today than ever.

It's restful to tired, worn-out, nerve-racked humanity, whether they live in a mansion, flat or cottage—the result is the same and the cost of this wonderful rejuvenation is so moderate—less than $500.00.

Can you afford it? Of course you can, as a good investment not only for yourself but for your family, as one and all can play the Pianista—any music they prefer.

cooperation with agricultural colleges State authorities and local veterinarians, to control hog cholera. The effectiveness of their efforts and the success of modern methods of combating this disease is shown by the fact that during 1914 the hog mortality from disease was 7,000,000 head, as compared to 3,000,000 in the year ending March, 1915, 90 per cent of the deaths being due to hog cholera. The losses in 1914 were equivalent to the normal consumption of pork and pork products by the entire population of the United States for 37 days.

Three New National Forests

President Wilson has issued a proclamation establishing three new National Forests in the East—the White Mountain in Maine and New Hampshire, the Shenandoah in Virginia and West Virginia, and the Natural Bridge in Virginia. Each Forest represents the final step in carrying out the law passed by Congress in 1911 providing for the purchase by the Government of forest lands on the watersheds of navigable streams. Additional lands which have been purchased in the White Mountains and Southern Appalachians will be proclaimed National Forests as their accumulation reaches a point justifying the step.

Farm Attains "Efficiency"

To show how farmers of the United States are meeting the shortage of farm help a field agent of the Bureau of Crop Estimates in a recent report told of seeing a farmer in Indiana driving a team of six horses hitched to a disc plow and leading three horses drawing a harrow. He was working nine horses and two modern farming implements, and doing the work of several men and teams under the old system of farming.

Spraying "Circles" For Farmers

Community cooperation in spraying, particularly in the control of such diseases as potato late blight and tomato leaf spot, is urged by the United States Department of Agriculture. The department is suggesting to county agents and extension pathologists the early organization of such spraying "circles" to deal more effectively this year with such destructive plant diseases. A community spraying outfit with a man and team continuously employed throughout the season is both economical and efficient, department officials say, and proved a successful plan in Vermont and New York last year. In one New York community the average spraying cost per acre for the season was as low as 65 cents, while the cost of one application average 13 cents an acre. Detailed reports of the organization and operation of the community spraying circles as they were conducted in Vermont and New York are being made available by the department to workers.

A Guide to Baking

A guide to baking with helpful facts briefly told has been issued by the Office of Home Economics in the form of a card to be hung in a convenient place in the kitchen. It carries the message of saving wheat by the use of substitutes and gives amounts of substitutes equal to one cup of flour. Good combinations of substitutes, with cautions to be considered in their use in baking, are also given. An old recipe for making bread is compared with a new one in which 1 3/8 cups of barley and 1 cup of corn flour take the place of 2 cups of wheat flour.

Cooperate in Crop Estimates

Cooperation in Wisconsin between the Bureau of Crop Estimates and the State Department of Agriculture is proving very satisfactory, according to expressions of State officials. The reports are said to be more dependable because of better sources of information and better organization secured through the cooperative arrangement, which has eliminated duplication of work and expense. Similar cooperation has been established in Utah, Missouri, and Nebraska and is under consideration in other States.

Sheep Specialists Aid Beginners

The sheep extension specialists appointed by the Department of Agriculture and now at work in 15 States are giving special assistance to prospective sheep raisers in aiding them in procuring satisfactory stock and in providing necessary equipment to insure successful outcome of the new ventures. In this way people who are unable to retain for breeding purposes the full number of the female increase of their flocks, are arranging through the extension specialists and local county agents to have their surplus stock go into the hands of other persons who are looking for stock. This has been an important factor in conserving breeding stock which might otherwise have gone to the market for immediate slaughter.

What Meat Inspection Costs

In the fiscal year 1917 the cost of the Federal meat inspection was about 5¢ cents for each of the 63,000,000 animals slaughtered. This covered the entire service from the first inspection of the live animals to the final examination of the meats in the finished products when ready for delivery to dealers or consumers.

Extends Livestock and Meats Service
Local Office of the Bureau of Markets have been opened in East St. Louis, Salt Lake City, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Louisville, Kentucky, to handle reports on livestock movement and meat-trade conditions at these markets.

REA SPIRIT OF I. W. W.

(New York Sun)

The newspapers and underdone psychologists who believe, or profess to believe, that the Industrial Workers of the World are really a group of spiritual crusaders, "whose acts are merely symptoms of a disease," may have trouble to reconcile this view with the evidence that has come out in the trial at Chicago.

Charles L. Lambert, who is one of the six members of the General Executive Board of the I. W. W., has the letter-writing habit—an unwise passion for criminals to indulge. He wrote to one of his spiritual comrades as follows:

"There is so little justice toward our class that we will have to change our tactics, and in the future when one of our class is murdered in the interest of capitalism two of theirs should be murdered in the interest of labor, and then the authorities will have to use more direct action."

The "one of our class" who had been "murdered" in this particular case was a man who had been convicted of murder and legally executed. A letter even more illuminating was written by Lambert when he heard of the death of an officer of the law:

"They finally got our old friend Sheriff Meadows, of Imperial Valley. This rat has dodged everything successfully for the last five years from poison to bullets, but finally he fell and died after four hours of terrible agony from poisoning of some kind. He lived five years too long."

What could be more Prussian than this elation over the "terrible agony" of a poisoned enemy? If Lambert were only the symptom of a disease, that disease would have America at death's door. But he is not a symptom, only a criminal. He and his fellows are bound together not only by class hatred, but by individual viciousness.

MORE SEED CORN READY

Washington—The United States Department of Agriculture today announced that reserve quantities of corn suitable for seed are stored at points convenient for distribution by express to farmers in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Minnesota, Michigan, Missouri, Nebraska, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin. This corn is intended for late planting and replanting and can be purchased from the Department for cash at cost as provided by law.

Farmers needing seed corn should get in touch at once with their county agents for detailed information regarding the kind of corn, the price, and how orders should be placed for it. Where there is no county agent, inquiries should be addressed to the nearest of the following officials in charge of the seed corn distribution: Illinois—William G. Eckardt, 120 West Adams street, Chicago, Ill.

Indiana—G. L. Christie, Lafayette, Ind.

Iowa—R. K. Bliss, Ames, Iowa.
Michigan—R. J. Baldwin, East Lansing, Mich.

Minnesota—A. D. Wilson, University Farm, St. Paul, Minn.
Nebraska—Prof. W. W. Burr, Lincoln, Neb.

Ohio—C. S. Wheeler, Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio.
Wisconsin—C. P. Norgard, Madison, Wis.

Among those identified with the non-essential industries may be classed the trouble makers.

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS WELL?

Many Maysville People Know the Importance of Healthy Kidneys.

The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. Well kidneys remove impurities. Weak kidneys allow impurities to multiply. No kidney ill should be neglected. There is possible danger in delay. If you have backache or urinary troubles, if you are nervous, dizzy or worn out, begin treating your kidneys at once. Use a proven kidney remedy. None endorsed like Doan's Kidney Pills. Recommended by thousands. Proved by Maysville testimony.

W. H. Lynch, shoemaker, E. Third St., says: "My kidneys were weak and sluggish. At one time the action of my kidneys stopped altogether. I finally used Doan's Kidney Pills and in a short time the action of my kidneys became normal. I kept on taking them and they completely relieved me." (State given January 9, 1912.)

TROUBLE NEVER RETURNED
On November 14, 1916, Mr. Lynch said: "I haven't had any need of a kidney remedy since I last recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. They have permanently cured me."

Mr. Lynch is only one of many Maysville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, the same that Mr. Lynch had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 60 cents at all stores. KU KLUX KLAN

Warns the Loafers of Bourbon Negro Districts to Get to Work

Forty men, masked and costumed in the flowing white robes of the Ku Klux Klan, paraded through the streets of Ruckerville and Clayville, Bourbon negro districts, Saturday night at 9 o'clock and by means of thousands of handbills which were printed with red ink and signed "Ku Klux Klan" warned the inhabitants of the districts that no disloyal acts, foolish talk and idleness would be tolerated in Bourbon county.

Twenty of the men carried guns and thirty rode in automobiles which had been decorated to conform to the white color scheme and no word was spoken by the men, who participated in the parade. All were orderly but used a threatening attitude when passing through the negro district.

News of the movements of the party of men spread quickly and soon five thousand people were watching the white robed men. Coming as it did while people were deeply impressed and the negroes were in a state of excitement threaten violence because of the seditious handbills which have been passed among the colored people.

No one seemed to know where the parade formed and following the end of the demonstration it vanished as mysteriously as it had appeared.

The handbills distributed by the men bore the following inscription:

"NOTICE!

"EVERYBODY MUST WORK!

"Work means six days a week. No loafing will be allowed here; no disloyal acts; no foolish acts tolerated. Everybody must work.

"THIS MEANS YOU!"

STAY AT HOME AND WORK

(Lexington Herald)

Are you going traveling? How? By foot, or horse-drawn vehicle, by motor car, or on the railroad? Rather a serious question it will be from this time forward, for those who want to go from place to place. Many who have heretofore gone without special thought of cost, will now take full heed of cost and stay at home.

If you travel in a sleeper, 3½ cents a mile you pay; in many cases 75 per cent. more than you formerly paid for railroad fare, and the same as formerly for Pullman fare. If you want a section you must have a ticket and a half. If you want a drawing room, two tickets. And if you wish the exclusive use of the drawing room, with the certainty that no one else will be put in with you, you must have five full tickets. No longer will the luxurious, exclusive individual, unless inspired by the desire to contribute money to the railroad, be found traveling alone in a drawing room. Even now seats are a premium in the day coaches. Those who have traveled recently have seen even throughout the night men and women sitting on their baggage in the aisles of the day coaches, using the sleepers, if at all, only during the night and not during the day.

No regulations could be passed that would have more effect in keeping people at home than the increase of railroad rates. A most excellent result this will be, if they who stay at home work during the time they have heretofore traveled and played.

We doubt seriously if the increase in the passenger rates increases greatly the revenue of the railroads. But beyond question it will lessen the necessity for the hauling of heavy sleepers, and even of day coaches, so that the motive power can be used for the transportation of freight.

What the increase of freight rates will mean to the business of America it is impossible as yet to tell. An increase of 25 per cent. is a heavy burden in the use of motor trucks for whatever distances their use is feasible. It will mean the curtailment in every way of the shipment of freight. It will mean the production of food where it is consumed, the self-support of communities so far as possible.

But there are many commodities that must be transported, coal, iron, timber and manufactured goods of various sorts. Cotton must be carried from the South, from the West, and the freight enters into cost as surely as do taxes. Freight rates are in a sense taxes, taxes on production and on consumption. The people of America must quickly adjust themselves to the new conditions that confront them, the conditions that make passenger travel most expensive, that make freight rates most onerous. What re-adjustment in prices of commodities will be necessary because of the increased freight rates can only be told as the problems of cost and expense are worked out. But beyond all precedent it means that the American people must economize, that their earnings and their savings may go to what is essential for the prosecution of the war. We are confident that the people of America will face these new problems and bear these additional burdens in the spirit the French and Belgians have borne the infinitely greater burdens and sorrows they have carried with unwavering courage.

Mrs. Madge Reese, head of the Cottage Cheese Demonstrating Work from Washington, D. C., and Miss Dorothy Ratcliff of Lexington, are going through the county this week giving home demonstration lectures.
